

July 29, 2011

To Our Valued Partners:

CA Technologies today announced the signing of a definitive agreement to acquire Watchmouse B.V. (WatchMouse). The addition of WatchMouse's technologies represents another step in CA Technologies continued effort to help you help our customers safeguard the end-to-end performance of their critical business services across all types of delivery models.

When the acquisition closes, WatchMouse's technology will become part of CA Technologies industry-leading, full-featured Application Performance Management (APM) solution. Today, more than 1500 large enterprises and service providers worldwide trust CA Technologies to manage the performance and availability of their critical, revenue-generating applications. We are excited to become a key part of CA APM and provide you with comprehensive and flexible options to help your customers manage their cloud, mobile and traditional web applications. Together, we look forward to continuing to help you deliver consistently high service levels that meet your customers' business objectives

Please continue to contact your WatchMouse representative for any questions you may have. We look forward to continuing our partnership and will contact you in the future with transition updates.

Regards,

Stan van de Burgt
CEO
WatchMouse

Mike Sargent
GM, Service Assurance Customer Solutions Unit
CA Technologies